Crested Butte, Colorado is what skiing out West is all about. It's an off the beaten path ski destination with an old Colorado atmosphere. Located in Southwest Colorado, only 27 miles from the airport in the Gunnison National Forest and the Elk Mountain Range, Crested Butte has 1,167 acres to ski and an average snowfall of 300 inches. Enjoy panoramic views and endless powder with groomed runs for all levels of skier and summit lifts to over 12,000 feet! The town of Crested Butte is one of Colorado's largest National Historic Districts, originally settled in the 1880's as a mining supply camp--it is arguably the friendliest, most charming town in the Rockies. Wander down Elk Avenue and over a hundred years of history speaks for itself--this is a great Colorado ski town! There are blocks after blocks of quaint shops, excellent restaurants, and exquisite galleries with charming façades at every turn. Sample the thriving nightlife as well--the town comes alive for après ski--pubs, clubs, and microbreweries highlight the little mountain town nestled below towering peaks.
